Who is the course for

Participants are usually those who will want to understand the reason and context of an enterprise architecture (EA) discipline. This offers them a way to become effectively familiar with functional approaches that work well in combinations and can lead to practical use of the EA framework(s).

Examples of participants:

- I am an enterprise architect and I need to know the broader context of the TOGAF® EA methodology
- I am not an architect and I want to become one, I am looking for basic information
- I'm an architect, but not an enterprise architect, and I want to become one, I have to deepen the context
