Course code: MSOFF365TEAMS

COOPERATION. In this way, we could define the MS Teams application. Nowadays, when the demands for teamwork, communication, data sharing, information, files are growing. We live in a time when technology has freed us from having to spend all our time in the office at the desk, but we are increasingly working in the field or from home. It is also often necessary to meet colleagues from another city or even another country. At such times, we need a tool that ensures effective communication, data sharing and collaboration, all remotely, with the ability to use a variety of devices and in a secure mode to prevent information leakage. Microsoft 365 is exactly such a platform and its main communication tool is the MS Teams application. In our course, participants will learn to work effectively and clearly with this powerful tool and use it for teamwork.
